MOTION FOR LEAVE TO EXCEED PAGE LIMIT AND TO OMIT TABLE OF CONTENTS

Lindsey Kent Springer “Springer” moves the court for an order to allow his amended motion for stay of execution of judgement and release on bond pending appeal exceeding the page limit set by local civil rule 7.2 and local criminal rule 1.2.

Local civil rule requires any motion exceeding 15 pages to contain a table of contents and any motion exceeding 25 pages requires leave to file. Springer is currently incarcerated at the David L Moss correctional Center and is unable to provide the table of contents at this time. Springer's previous motion, which this court struck on April 30th 2010, was 47 pages long. Springer has deleted the entire background and history to reduce the total page number to 32. The issues contained in Springer's motion are not new to this court nor are they new to the government. The government suffers no prejudice in this court allowing Springer to exceed the page limit and to file his motion without a table of contents. Springer files his motion for relief because that is what the 10th circuit requires. If Springer was not in custody, he would have had no trouble complying with this Court's instruction of Civil and Criminal rules.

Springer attaches his corrected amended motion as Exhibit A.

CONCLUSION

Therefore, Lindsey Kent Springer requests this court to issue an order allowing him to file his amended motion for release and stay and execution of judgement to exceed the page limit of 25 up to and including 32 pages and without a table of contents.

Respectfully Submitted
